Meet Sean M. O'Neil

Sean O'Neil is the President of his speaking & training company, Memory Dynamics, Inc. In addition, he's also the Co-Founder of his education company, Crazy Ways, LLC.

As a past professional member of the National Speakers Association for over half of his career, Sean is a highly acclaimed speaker and is regarded as one of America's most entertaining and motivating speakers on the topic of developing an instant-recall memory.

Since 1999, he has spoken live & in-person to over 4400 businesses, corporations and associations and has clients spanning virtually every industry — including numerous Fortune 500 companies.

Sean's passion is rooted in teaching professionals (regardless of age, gender, IQ or job title) to unlock their own "photographic" memory through transferrable skills and very powerful techniques that most people don't even know exist. Do you want to finally stop the daily struggle to remember names & faces?

No problem. Sean routinely recalls the names of entire audiences from 20 to 200 and guarantees he can teach you to do the same.

An interesting and memorable fact about Sean is that he was born on February 29th (Leap Year, a day that only comes once every 4 years). So he very much enjoys watching people freak out when he tells them he actually graduated from the University of Wisconsin with 2 degrees all by the age of 5. Of course, he was also driving by the age of 4.

Known to his clients as The Memory Guy, Sean is a firm believer that people will never forget how you made them feel as well as the most important discovery we'll ever make is the true potential of our own minds.

Sean's Philosophy

As a speaker, I bring experience and a unique perspective to the stage.

As an educator, I always want to make sure my audience learns something new.

As a practitioner, I want to make sure they leave with an idea on what to do next.

And as an entertainer, I want to make sure they laugh & have fun as well. When we laugh together, there's a better chance we'll learn together.

In the end, your audience laughs, learns and leaves with ideas they can implement right away.

What Was Your Name Again?

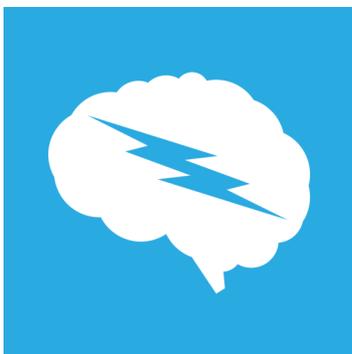

Never Forget Another Name... Or Anything Else for that Matter

How many times has it happened where you've met someone for the first time and no sooner did the handshake break with that person... and you've already forgotten their name?! Or worse, it's somebody you should already know! For a business owner or salesperson, it can mean the difference between a commission or losing the sale. For the rest of us, it's just downright embarrassing. And as you'll quickly discover, it's also PREVENTABLE. How important is it to remember the names of your customers, clients and prospects? Just ask the one you forgot!

I would like to express my gratitude for the outstanding presentation you made at our National Sales Conference in Phoenix last month. The feedback we received from our sales people was nothing short of outstanding.

I also want to thank you for working within our tight conference schedule and commend you for overcoming the obstacles that we presented you with. No doubt it was not an ideal situation having to split your presentation over two days, with the first part immediately following dinner and drinks, but you did an outstanding job engaging a room of 150 sales people and setting the table for the following morning's session! Not only was the content valuable and well received, but you delivered in a highly entertaining way!

We invited Sean to speak at our CFMA conference because of the rave reviews and over-the-top evaluations (a perfect 5 out of 5 in all areas) he received from another construction association. His evaluations easily stood out from the pool of other speakers.

Sean lived up to the scores and did not disappoint. His presentation was extremely funny, engaging and so different from all other presentations. We HIGHLY recommend Sean for his presentation skills.

Everyone on our board was so excited to have Sean speak at our Arizona Trustee Association Annual Convention, as we heard from other groups just how engaging, informative, and FUN his presentation would be.

Let me just say, he did not disappoint! While not a typical topic that “fits” our convention, Sean’s focus on “memory recall” was such a welcomed addition and, let’s face it, something we could all use.

Thank you, Sean!

To: Sean O'Neil, Memory Dynamics
From: Tim Helms

I just wanted to express my deep thanks for your incredible Memory Dynamics Program. I have been in sales and sales management for twenty five years and have spent thousands of dollars on workshops, seminars, books, and media to help me climb to the top 1% of my industry. It is with no disrespect to Brian Tracy, Tom Hopkins, and Tony Robbins that I say, the money I spent for the Memory Dynamics seminar has been of far greater value to me than any other money I have spent on self-improvement or career-enhancement.

In just the first month since the seminar, I am already reaping the rewards of a dramatically improved memory, especially in regard to remembering people's names. Even though I have vast experience in public speaking, the memory skills from the seminar have given me the ability to go completely off-notes during a presentation without fear of skipping any important points. My twenty two year-old and eleven year-old sons have also attended the Memory seminar and are reaping the benefits both in business and the classroom.

I would strongly recommend the Memory Dynamics seminar for anyone interested in self-improvement, regardless of the point you're at in your career. The small investment of time and money in this program will reap huge rewards throughout your life.

Sincerely,
