

Craig Bourque – Professional Speaker, Certified Drug & Alcohol Testing Expert

Craig Bourque is the President and CEO of Carolina Drug & Alcohol Testing Services and BRAVO Compliance based in Conway, SC. He is a nationally certified expert in drug and alcohol testing with over a decade of experience delivering engaging, educational, and compliance-driven presentations across the country. As a recognized authority in workplace safety and substance abuse prevention, Craig holds multiple certifications from the National Drug & Alcohol Screening Association (NDASA), including DER-T (Designated Employer Representative Trainer), C/TPA (Consortium/Third Party Administrator), and CPCT (Certified Professional Collector Trainer).

Throughout his career, Craig has presented to a wide range of audiences, including public organizations, nonprofit groups, private businesses, and national industry conferences. His dynamic speaking style and deep industry knowledge make him a sought-after speaker for training sessions, educational seminars, and community events.

Craig's key presentation topics include:

- Supervisor Training for Reasonable Suspicion in the Workplace
- Designated Employer Representative (DER) Compliance Training
- Employee Education on Substance Use and Safety in the Workplace
- Recognizing Household Drug and Alcohol Dangers
- Prom Night & Youth Substance Use Awareness
- Community-Based Drug and Alcohol Awareness Initiatives

With a passion for protecting communities and promoting safety, Craig blends regulatory expertise with real-world application. His sessions are known for being practical, informative, and impactful—whether he's training a room of business professionals or engaging high school students and parents before prom night.

Whether you're hosting a corporate training, a conference keynote, or a community education session, Craig Bourque brings the clarity, credibility, and compassion that makes a lasting impact.
